

Become an AAES Medical Student Member

So you're interested in Endocrine Surgery? We're excited to have you on board!

Join a close-knit surgical organization that's committed to clinical excellence, quality research, year-round educational resources and a network of collegial mentors who can help advance your career aspirations in the field of endocrine surgery.

Student Membership Requirements:

Membership is available to all students enrolled in an LCME-accredited institution or equivalent body.

How to apply:

1. Review the current AAES bylaws at www.endocrinesurgery.org to ensure you meet the criteria.
2. Identify and contact a sponsor who is an Active, Allied, Corresponding, or Senior AAES Member, general surgery residency program director, or Chair of the Department of Surgery.
3. Complete the appropriate online Membership Application and upload the required documentation.
https://aaes.memberclicks.net/index.php?option=com_mcform&view=ngforms&id=2088774#!/

Deadline to Apply:

No deadline. Applications are reviewed and processed on an ongoing basis. All submitted documents must be written in English.

Required documentation (Microsoft Word or Adobe PDF format):

- Bibliography / Curriculum Vitae (limit your CV to 10 pages)
- Sponsor letter (addressed to the AAES Membership Committee)
- Literature contribution (optional)

Why you should become a student member:

- Comradery with like-minded individuals - friendship and community.
- Opportunities to engage with surgical residents, fellows, surgeons in practice, nationally and internationally renowned surgeons in the specialty of endocrine surgery, and learn more about what makes this surgical specialty a great career choice.
- Reduced registration fees for the annual AAES meeting.
- Professional development with access to educational material and the opportunity to showcase your research efforts.
- Submit and present your research
- Attend one of the best annual meetings around
- Multiple Chairs of Departments of Surgery, surgical clerkship directors, and residency program directors are endocrine surgeons. Meet them at the annual meeting.
- Attend virtual 'Team Training' webinars aimed at bringing together all of the people that make up the endocrine surgery team to learn about and discuss specific topics throughout the year.

Questions? Please contact us at info@endocrinesurgery.org.

American Association of Endocrine Surgeons